SATURDAY MORNING, FEB. 11, 1860. Hoar of Closing Malis.

Twenty-Second of February. It is proposed to celebrate the next anniver-Eary of the birth of George Washington, the "Father of his Country," and Cales Wall offers to open Albany Hall, on Monday evening next, for a general meeting of all who are diposed to unite in the celebration. We approve of the suggestion and hope to see it carried out; especially as the Union has just been so effectually "saved" by the election of a "Black Republican"

Particulars of the Murder in Manttowoo Co. Particulars of the Marder in Maultowee Co.

We yesterday gave the rumored particulars of the murder of Mrs. Hannah Packard, on Saturday, February 4th, by her son-in-law, Gabish Gage, whose examination was had on Monday, before Justice Clark, at Clark's Mills. It appears that Gage and his wife had not lived happily together, and they parted, the latter with their only son, going to the residence of her mother, now deceased. On the day of the murder, Gage called there; knocked at the door; the old lady with an earthen vessel in her hand answered the summons; Gage told her he wished to see The Green County Demograt is the summons; Gage told her he wished to see his boy; Mrs. P. told him to leave, or she bis boy; Mrs. P. told him—It he could not take care of the child at home, he should not take care of the child at home, he should not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel at him—It he could not take care of the child at home, he should not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel at him—It he could not take care of the child at home, he should not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel at him—It he could not take care of the child at home, he should not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel at him—It he could not take care of the child at home, he should not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel at him—It he could not take care of the child at home, he should not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel at him—It he could not take care of the child at home, he should not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel at him—It he could not take care of the child at home, he should not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel at him—It he could not take care of the child at home, he should not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel at him—It he could not take care of the child at home, he should not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel at him—It he could not take care of the child at home, he should not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel at him—It he could not take care of the child at home, he should not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel, that the could not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel at him—It he could not take care of the child at home, he should not see him at all; Gage told her to throw the vessel, that is the told him if he did not hit him; she then told him if he did not hit him; and cold at him, and going into the house, she soon returned with a said, "Give me up that shawl that I have the vessel, but of the various Churches of the outpou

CHAPMAN'S PORM .-- The concert last eve ning, for the benefit of the Library of the Young Men's Association, was well attended. The music, by the Musical Society, was very good, though we thought, at the time, there might have been a little more variety in the pieces offered.

The reading of Charman's poem-"A Tribute to Dr. KANE"-was, however, the main attraction of the evening. Mr. Charman is a resident of Milwaukee, and a poet of much promise. Those who heard the rendering of 'the Tribute," last evening, will have discovered the evidences of divine addatus. Of rourse, it is not our province to enter into a ritical examination of the poem now. We managed to catch a few of the more detachable points, and here present them to our readerst, with a hope that ere long we shall have the pleasure of reading the entire production in a durable shape:

The excitement in Napa Co. concerning the discovery of a silver mine in Mount St. Helena continues. About 1,000 people were on the ground at last accounts, prospecting by day, camping out at night, and meeting with just enough success to encourage further search. Some specimens of silver ore have been obtained which assayed $95 to the

It is rumored that an undue quantity of gunpowder and firsarms continue to be shipped to Mexico by Americans on every essel leaving, and that an unusual numbe vessel leaving, and that an unusual manner of passengers accompany such freight. Evidently considerable support is given to the liberal party, in Mexico, by unorganized parties of volunteers straggling down from Uzlifornia.

Destructive Gale at New York. New York.

New York, Feb. 10-9 P. M.

Last night about ten o'clock the wind, which had previously been from the S. W. and very pleasant weather, shifted to West and then to N. W. accompanied with slight rain and snow, and during the night blew heavy from the latter point. Since daylight it has increased to a perfect hurricane, and has up to this hour, ten a. m., done a great deal of damage among shipping on both rivers.

Among the disasters, thus far, the saip Golden West, lying at the foot of Mon-lade street, has her stern badly stove, and is chafed badly. The barque Princeton, laying head to the windward at Ford's pier, parted her mooring chains and went stern on the bulkhead, driving in her stern, through which the interior of the vessel can be seen. She is badly hurt, and lays very badly. All the vessels at anchor in the North River have dragged. The three-masted schooner Forest Queen lays very close in on Governor's Island. Another schooner is below her on Mud Flats.

School on Degraw street, between Henry and Columbia streets, Brooklyn, which was en-tirely destroyed in a very short time. About 100 scholars were in at the time, who wer all got out safety, losing their coats, hats and Roofs of some new stores on Atlantic dock were blown off. The new Hotel occupied by Geo. Lossee, and two new buildings on Hamilton avenue, had roofs and beams blown off, falling on adjacent buildings. The old Hamilton Avenue Market, which stands men.

The Catholic Orphan Asylum on 16th St. was unroofed. Four hundred children were in the building at the time, though fortunately none were injured. A large Factory on De Kalb Avenue, Brooklyn, was demolished. Hundreds of other buildings in this city, Jersey City, Hoboken and Brooklyn were nuroofed, or otherwise badly injured.

A. De Pryer, President of the Relief Ins. Co., white walking down Broadway, was thrown down by the force of the wind and sustained a severe fracture of the hip.

The School House in Brooklyn cost $25,000, and contained a Library worth $15,000—all destroyed.

HALIFAX, Feb. 10-9 P. M.

The steamer Canada, which left Liverpool at 10 o'clock on the morning of the 28th, arrived here at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

Gebat Britain.—In the House of Lords, on the 26th, Lord Brougham gave notice that he would on an early day move for some returns relative to slavery, and would bring the whole question before the House. He would also move for the returns for cotton imported into England from America. He made his motion on the following evening.

The Duke of Newcastle, in response, said returns should be produced and the government do all in its power to suppress the African slave trade.

The Lecompton Democratic State Convention to elect delegates to the Charleston Convention is to be held at Sacramento, on the 29th of Feb.

The Republican State Central Committee will meet at San Francisco on the 21st to issue a call for a State Convention to elect the state constitution recently adopted at Wyandotte, as preliminary to the adoption of Yyandotte, as preliminary to the adoption o Wyandotte, as preliminary to the adoption of Kansas into the Union.

Mr. Morse introduced a resolution that several standing committees, who were apthorized to employ clerks at the last session of Congress, be now authorized to do so with addition of committee on accounts and Ter-ritories. The resolution was resisted on the Democratic side.

Mr. Houston said there was no present necessity for clerks.

Mr. Burnett said they could be of no use except as Private Secretaries to the Chair-Mr. Maynard said Committees were thus be provided for. Complaints were made that clerks were appointed when there was nothing to do.

The Domocrats continued to oppose the resolution by dilatory motions. Without dis-uosing of it, the House resolved itself into Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union. Mr. Washburne, of Ill, in the Chair. Mr. Sherman offered a series of resolutions referring the various branches of the Presi dent's Annual Message to the appropriate standing committees, and the Pacific Rail-road question to a select committee of 18. Mr. Ferris proceeded to reply to what he haracterized as unfounded and unprecedent-d assaults on the Republican party, and

RICHES IN THE GARD OF POVERTY.—An agent engaged in selling Adams's Patent Coal Sifter—a Bostan "notion," of domestic utility—in New York city, says the wealthy and business classes there have great charity for their poor in refraining from having their coal ashes sifted, and gives the following instances of the economical results of such liberality:

The Earl of Grauville said the government had no information of any negotiations of the kind and the French government had not been made acquainted with their operations as to such an arrangement.

On the 27th, in Commons, Mr. Griffith called attention to a rumor that 30,000 French troops were expected at Leghorn, and inquired whether there was any reason to suppose the object of such a movement was to prevent the annexation of Central Italy to Sardinia.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

A Republican State Convention will be held at the Capitol, in Madison, on Wednesday, the 20th day of February, 1860, at 12 o'clock M., to choose four delegates from the state pt large, and two from each Congestion to the state pt large, and two from each Congestion Destrict, to represent the State of Wisconsin in the Republican National Convention to be held at Chicago on the 10th of pext June, to nominate two candidates for presidential electors for the State at large, to adopt such action as may be deemed advisable in the dependence Court of the State; and for the transaction of such other business as may be thought estendated to advance the interest of the party and promote the states of the principles. of sinch other hartests of the party and promote the advance the interests of the party and promote the necess of its principles. Each Assembly such Convention, except where a to two delegates in one than one County, when each destrict include more than one County, when each county will be entitled to two delegates.

The committee would respectfully suggest that Assembly District Countentions to elect delegates to the State Convention to held as early as Saurday, the 15th State Convention to held as early as Saurday, the name of GEO. W. FOSTER may not be overlooked. In the Third District I think he could be elected, if any Republican could be. He would get votes in Ozaukee that no other Republican in the district could command.

The Democratic Surrender. The New York Tublet, a Democratic journal and the organ of the Irish Catholics in the Empire State, in its issue of the 4th instant, indignantly denounces the action of the Democratic L. presentatives in abandoning their own caudidate and organization, and voting, in a body, for a Nuow-Nothing Speaker. For the benefit and enlightenment of the News, which persists in misrepresent. ing the facts in the case, and thereby hopes to delude our adopted citizens into further support of a party which has just so shamefully betrayed them, we extract a portion of the Tablet's article:

the Tablet's article:

"The proceedings in the House of Representatives on Friday, the Tilt alt, were of a nature most interesting to adopted chineus of all nationalities. They will snow as who are not withinly blind and determined, at all hazards, to hug the self-imposed chain of voluntary party servinde, what value is set upon them and services, what care is taken of their interests, by the very men they helped to place and power. The very men they helped a such as the service of that par Khow-Nahidag, was proposed by a member of that par to do the party by whom he was elected to Gongress. He was nominated and elected by the configuration of the party in opposition to an array a Bennerat. We have been privately assured, he are a bennerat. "The Washington correspondent of the lending Dem monitors.
"It is to be hoped that the lesson of the 27th of January 1500, will not be thrown away on those of our schopted citizens, who think they can rely on politicians to look after their interests instead of looking after them themselves."

We commend the facts stated and the sentiments expressed by the Tablet to the attentive consideration of our Adopted Citizens. They exhibit very clearly the hollowness of Democratic professions and the treachery and insincerity of the party which claims to be the exclusive friend of the foreigner. Mr. Larmanner, the Representative from the Third District of Wisconsin, who boasts that "he 1090 000.000.000 on each square mile of the 1090 000.000.000 on each square mile of the of the Hon. Miles Taylor, endorsing its sentiments in a lengthy leader. The doctrine set forth in the letter is that of an interpressible Conflict." The writer does not mine matters, but comes out boldly and declares that unless a Democratic President is elected in 1860, the Union roust and shall be—hurled to eternal smash.

It is certain that the slavery question has at last reached a crisis, and that it must be put an end to, or that the national confederation of these States must be dissolved.

It is something for the News to admit that the question has "reached a crisis," and we are glad that it now boldly avows its sentiments to be Democracy or dissolution; because there are many supine Democrats who cause the cause of the Unite to the last Honse of Representatives, he swere that the slatt Honse of Representativ enough, he doubles once more on the same ground:

If this seeming hostility between the Northern and Southern States is, in point of fact, real, it is hardly becomes you say they can no longer remain members of the same Conteleracy. The election in the Northern States during the present year will indeed sorrily to desire as to the fact, for the question upon it is now, for the first time, distinctly before the people, and it must be determined by them.

If this does not eclipse the "irrepressible" theory of WM. H. SEWARD, in its practical application, we are no judges of plain Euglish. Democracy is determined to "do or Attention to the following notice, from the die," and the threats concealed in such plaus Washington Star, will save many the trouble He logic are only the dernier resorts of an already despairing party.

Capital Punishment.

The recent execution of Stephens, in New York, for the murder of his wife, presents another of those painful spectacles of a man going calmly to meet his fate with protestations of innocence on his lips. The statement of two respectable citizens of that city -one a minister of the gospel-sets forth that after long continued interviews with the prisoner he had given proofs of a radical 'change of heart' and became converted but until the moment of his death arrived and the halter choked his utterance he protested his innocence of the charge of murder, and the gentlemen in their published statements give it as their belief that the man was innocent.

We do not wish to array these things against legal evidence, but we submit that such occurrences, happening as they not unfrequently do throughout the year, and in all parts of the country, will have more weight in influencing the public mind against espital punishment than any logic or restrum eloquence that can be brought to bear.

We are not prepared to avow our hostility to capital punishment, but there is something repuguant in this hurrying of a man into elemity as though through fear of doubts of his guilt being verified. And we can not read the accounts of men dying for an alleged murder with avowals of innocence on their lips without a shudder.

Missouri Grumbling .- The St. Louis Democrat 8833: Democrat says:

The National Democracy not only in management of Federal affairs, but in the management of State affairs, have brought on a dangerous criefs, and involved thepeople, over whom they tyrranize, in evil of the most serious kind.

Missouri is being rapidly pushed into a state of powerty. Either the character of the people has changed in the last few years, under the dictatorial teachings of this party; or che their voice and wishes have been suppressed and thwarfall by their representatives—the men who have made, and who have executed our State laws.

Fortunately for Missouri there is a remedy.

PRILADELPHIA has a funded debt of $11,-010,486, of which a million soon falls due, and a sinking fund of ten millons. Her re-ceipts last year were $5,220,184 and expen-penditures $4,666,181.

Ozaukee. Mr. Foster is well and favorably known throughout the State, as a well read and able lawyer. I believe he would make an upright and impartial Judge, and his opinions on the question of State Rights are the same as those which the Supreme Court have already given.

I hope that when nominations are made, both for the State at large or the Circuit Judgeship in the Third Judicial District, the name of Gro. W. Foster may not be over-time an indiwes.

Almost Holy Father: We come once again with the same ardor to prostrate curselves at the foot of your double throne of Sovereign Pontiff and King, and to bring to it the expression and assurance of our profound respect and entire devotion. Deign to receive, Most Holy Father, the sentiments of my brave and noble subordinates, of whom I am at this moment the interpretor. THE POPE'S REPLY.

Monsieur le General:—If, on the advent of every new year we have received with pleasure the good wishes you have presented to us in the name of the officers, and of the army which you so worthily command, those good wishes are doubly welcome to us to-day, in consequence of the exceptionable events which have occurred, and because you assure us that the French Division in the Paual which have occurred, and because you must the French Division in the Papal States is placed there for the defense of the rights of Catholicism. The first question is important. The others are not less so. No candidate should be urged who is not sound on all these questions.

LET ORDER REIGN.—There is an angry dispute and bitter quarrel raging in this city between a portion of the Germans and the Rev. Christian Sans. We know nothing of the truth of the charges put forth by one party and denied by the other, nor do we intend to take sides with either; but threats of violence have been so often made and repeated, that it is not improper for us to say, that if any attempts are made to try the effects of mol law in this community, we hope those guilty will meet the most summary and condign punishment at the hands of our authorities. We have laws, and if they are good for anything, they ought to be strong enough to protect the person and property of survey citizen from the outrage of combinations banded together with the view of executing a certain purpose, right or wrong. If Mr. Sans bas committed the acts of which he is accused, let him suffer the consequences; in that case the scorn and contempt of all will soon place him where he belongs. If he is not, then he is entitled to sympathy and confidence just as much as any other talented and respectable uninister of the Gospel. If the Holy Father, for the sake of the peace of Europe, should give up these provinces, which for fifty years have have been a great embarrassment to his government, and if in exchangs, he should request the great Powers to guarantee to him the possession of the remainder, I do not doubt the immediate restoration of tranquility. Then the Holy Father would insure to grateful Italy peace for many years, and to the Holy See the peaceful possession of the Stales of the Church.

The Paris Constitutionnel (semi-official) of the 12th, the journal which is second only in authority to the Moulteur—has an article on the subject of the Pope's allocution, which begins by saying:

The Constitutionnel then calls to mind the language of Chaleanbriand, when ambassador at Rome in 1823, respecting Cardinal Bernetti—language which it hints would be equally applicable to Cardinal Antonelli—a man of business and pleasure besieging the Holy Father—le dominant peu a peu—but never disguising from himself the inevitable result of the policy of the Saint Seige. The Cardinal, says Chateaubriard, believes in approaching revolutions, and went so far as to think that it his life was prolonged, he had a chance of seeing the temporal fall of the others, as applications are constantly being made at the United States Agricultural Bureau for seed, that the office, from the limited appropriations of last year, hus been circumscribed in its operations, and therefore unable to purchase seed for distribution as hereto-

A TIGHT-Rope DANGER BURNED TO DEATH.—On Saturday night a large crowd was assembled at Volks Garten, No. 45 Bowery, to witness the performance. In the course of the evening Mrs. Josephine Herskell, having concluded her performance on the tight rope, leaped from it to the stage. In so doing she came in contact with the foot-lights, which set fire to her dress, and in an instant she was enveloped in flames. The unfortunate actress lingered in great agony until near half post nine o'cleok Sunday morning, when death relieved her from suffering. She remained conscious to the last.—N. Y. Trib.

"Yes, but you may lay in the thwarts and come it by easy stages, venerable old fogy; we shan't ask you to pull at anything stronger than Rhine water, though it's likely you will have your oar in if there's anything "Don't be scared," whispered Clinton to his little companion. "The East river ain't very dreadful. If we do get upset there's the bass wiol you know will buoy you ashore."

ashore."

"I object." said Chris aloud, "to the whole proceeding. I can't reconcile the exploit with my conscience. I have friends and duties with claims on my life, and I can't foolishly risk it. Fun's fun, but it must be on dry land. I've an aversion to water." "But we don't want you to drink it," said Jerry, "besides it will be cowardly to back out, you know!"

"Cowardly," rejoined Chris. "Allow me to say, gentlemen, that I'm not afraid to show my cowardice. Every one has more or less of it, but it is nt every one has the courage to say so. I once got upset at Putney, and floated all the way to Hungerford stairs and had ample opportunity to make up my mind about my fature course. You may count me out." "How about the condiments," asked Clin-

"Cheese and cider for a change," answered Jerry.
"Nothing like the Twelfth Ward election. where we were asked to spend an hour in honor of an elected candidate, and after wait-ing and admiring the barren dishes, find out ing and admiring the barren dishes, find out in the course of the night that some how or other the condidate had failed to elect himself, and nothing had been provided."

"Listen to me gents," said Jerry. "The boat is provided and so are the necessaries, but it's no more than fair to tell you beforehand that I have a presentiment of an adventure before we get back."

"Something in the recreation line?" asked Clinton, making a puglifistic illustration.
"I don't know the programme, but expect fun. It's now 9 o'clock; we had better start. The tide will run up for two hours and we shall have an easy puil."

"Not exactly. I never saw the young lady's face divine; she having been introduced to me with a veil on, but there was enough beauty filtered through to inoculate me with a dangerous curiosity. Besides, my sister held the young creature's ambrotype before me the other day for the space of one minute, and afterwards pointed out from our observatory the private school, half way to New Rochelle on the East River, where this dazzing arrangement, in company with some two dozen of other graces, biushed unseen over geography and worsted. The idea of serenading a private bourding school struck me as racy. The idea of pleasing so much beauty, to the eternal envy of the other two dozen seemed the height of sublimity; the pull out there is not five miles; of a moonlight uight nothing could be more to our univer-

"I managed, through my sister, to have her understand if such a thing occurred it was to be attributed to the Alpines!" added Jerry.

"Delectando pair-of-turkeys!" continued Clinton. "Nothing could be more promising. If Chris was in to be left behind. It will be a voyage of delight with beauty at one end and morality at the other, a rare sandwich iced with mocollight!"

"Two or three of the party were playing oards at a table, apparently undisturbed by the general conversation. One of them was called Billet. He wore a heavy black beard and moustache, and his long jetty hair was brushed to a mass behind, where it hung over his collar. Not long after, the entire party were out on the andulating water; even Chris had not been left behind, for Greenway taking him under his arm, just as the little worthy was about to wave a pensive adient to the voyagers, quietly seated him on the stern and pushed the boat from the dock with his foot. Despite the trick, he evinced no serious displesance but him on the stern and prished the book room the dook with his foot. Clinton, who sat beside Christnass, could not contain his enthusiasm. "What do you say to this for a soul stretcher, Christ?" he said. "Don't it make your oldromance ebullient. The moonshine goes right into my heart of hearts like the 'light of other days' when you sing it. Where will you find such another stream of poetry and adding between when you sing it. Where will you find such another stream of poetry sufflading between such mural romance."

'T've seen the same moonlight on the Thames," answered Christmas, "and when we come to get Westminster and Blackfriars and Vauxhall bridges and the tower, one may talk of mural beauties!"

'Thames," said his companion with as much discust as though he had his mouth full of that British stream. "Thames, indeed! much discust as though he had his nouth fall of that British stream. "Thanes, indeed! What would the Thames be without the London sewers? Do you pretend to compare that sheet of slime with this unfathorable current that swallowed up your Brittanic Majesty's Euzzar and allows us to sail over her topmasts with water to spare!" "Will you cork up your communicativeness for the space of a minute," sai'd Jerry, addressing the last speaker, and resting on his oars. "I think that must be the liouse above there, about a mile; suppose we pull in under the bomk and take it easy, it will be a more gradual approach!"

under the bank and take it easy, it will be a more gradual approach?"
"If you are sure of the house," answered Greenway, "I approve of the plan."
They were now swiftly gliding in the current that runs between Blackwell's Island and the Long Island ahore. Very little pulling was required, and with a direction to "United who had the little strings tin keen." Ing was required, and with a direction to Dinton, who held the little strings "to keep her well in to shore," Jerry recled on the sweeps and his companion did the same.

Billet, who occupied the bow, suddenly took his cigar from his month, saying, in that peculiarly sharp distinct manner which always attracts attention—"Hark!" TO BE CONTINUED. 7
